The 2022 Business Expo, "Get in the Game," was held at the Richland County Fairgrounds on Thursday, March 24 from 10 am to 4 pm.

This 15th annual event put on by the Richland Area Chamber & Economic Development, is always a popular event with over 100 local businesses and non-profit organizations participating. Due to the pandemic, it was cancelled in 2020 and 2021.

Admission and parking were free and open to the public. Individual booths offered prizes, samples and giveaways.

The Richland Area Chamber held their own prize drawings throughout the day. Participants and attendees were encouraged to bring canned good donations which were given to local Catholic Charities Food Pantry.

A special ribbon cutting with local officials and the Richland County Sheriff's Color Guard opened the event. Miss Ohio 2019-'20, Caroline Williams, sang the National Anthem.

The CEO of Richland Area Chamber, Jodie Perry, said "It felt cathartic being here since it was the first thing cancelled in 2020. Thank you to all the businesses for your amazing support and to the community for showing up."

This event is a great way for consumers to interact with businesses and learn more about what they offer. Participants had their own unique ideas for what "Get in the Game" looked like. The prize for Most Creative Booth went to Schmidt Security, and the for the Best Use of Theme went to IHeart.

The Beginning of Steam Power

By Bob Carter

Toby's Run is the small stream that runs through North Lake Park and meanders on down to North Main Street, crossing under a bridge and turning northeast and passing the old Ohio Brass office building. John Damp owned a water-powered grist mill on that stream and, at times, the stream water level was not adequate to power the mill machinery.

An announcement in the Mansfield Herald in June 1868, revealed that John Damp became owner-superintendent of the mill on Walnut St. At that time Walnut did not end at Sixth St., but continued on north to Main. He made a number of improvements before installing a steam engine.

"He attached a turbine wheel to the water works, abolished some of the former gearing and installed modern and improved gearing which he claimed gave the machinery double the speed and power."

The article also stated, "If you want good work done in the line of flour, just call on Mr. Damp, and you will not regret. We speak from the card, having never received poor flour from Mr. Damp's mill."

As more and more land was cleared and streets and roads were created, the water ran off and the table dropped. In the late 1800s this was a problem in many cases for mill owners in the county.

The adding a steam engine to power mill machinery was an expensive undertaking. The cost of the engine and adding an outside or separate room for the engine was high. The room was necessary for the steam boiler to reduce fire danger from mill dust. This was no small undertaking. Another factor was the cost of fuel and hiring someone to operate the engine. Water power was free, but now fuel had to be bought for the hungry boiler. Many mill owners went in that direction but few lasted very long.

The arrival of railroads quite often meant farmers shipped their grain to eastern markets and brought finished mid-west flour for the local general stores. That ended trips to the local flour mills. Few mills could survive the competition. Damp's mill was gone by 1880.

New Steam Power.

Having bought and repaired the

MANSFIELD WATER MILL,

I HAVE FOUND THAT THE supply of water is insufficient to do the

COUNTY CUSTOM GRINDING,

And have made the addition of a

STEAM ENGINE

To do the work in dry and cold weather, when I have no water to do it with.

Now, Farmers bring your grist along and stop with it where you see the sign

John Damp's Grist Mill.

Near the MANSFIELD MACHINE WORKS, and see for yourself, that you can be suited.

Substitute House Bill 509 passes

State Representatives Marilyn John (R-Richland County) and Fowler Arthur (R-Ashtabula) passed Substitute House Bill 509 out of the Ohio House of Representatives.

Substitute House Bill 509 is part of the process to review professional occupational licensure and ensure consumer protections and quality standards are balanced with best practices, competitive fees and reasonable education requirements. This occupational licensure review process was established in Senate Bill 255 in the 132nd General Assembly.

"The goal of this legislation is to make the state of Ohio the best place to work, live, and start a business, all while removing barriers one may have when attempting to enter a new career field," said John.

Throughout the process of undertaking this legislation, Representative John and Representative Fowler Arthur reviewed materials from 19 state boards as well as other interested parties to be sure the best legislation has been drafted. Some of the boards impacted by this legislation are the Board of Building Standards, Board of Pharmacy, Board of Psychology and the Vision Professionals Board.

"I have learned a lot through the process of hearing from the licensure boards and comparing Ohio's regulations to other states. We were able to find areas to cut red tape, reduce bureaucracy, and increase Ohioan's accessibility to licensed career paths," said Fowler Arthur.

This bill is now under consideration by the Ohio Senate.

GOAT CHEESE WON TONS WITH RED PEPPER PUREE

Ingredients

- 22 ounces goat cheese
(I used 2 of the large logs of goat cheese, you can also use crumbled goat cheese as well.)
- 1 Tbsp. Italian seasoning
- 1 egg
- Won Ton wrappers (40-50) package

Red Pepper Puree:

- 4 red peppers roasted
(or you can buy them I would use a large jar)
- 1 cup of sour cream
(or crème fraiche, if you use crème fraiche you might need a bit more)
- 2 cloves garlic
- Kosher salt and pepper

Instructions

Soften the goat cheese and add Italian seasoning, mix well. Beat an egg in a bowl with a little water. Lay out wonton wrappers a few at a time and brush with egg mixture. Put a small amount of goat cheese on a wrapper and fold in a triangle. Lay on a parchment covered baking sheet. Bake in a 350 oven for 15-20 minutes until they just begin to get brown on the edges.

Put all the ingredients for the puree in a food processor and process. Taste and add salt and pepper as needed. You don't want the sauce to be too thick. My suggestion would be to get it to a consistency of a smooth tomato sauce. You can also save some peppers and cut them in small strips to lay around the serving platter for decoration.

Today, I want to share with you about an amazing low impact style of workout that builds your strength and endurance.

For my readers that are older and do not want to lift heavy weights but want to get stronger, this is the perfect method for you. It is also perfect if you have past injuries and you need to build up your weak muscle groups safely.

I am talking about isometric lifting. An isometric hold is when you contract the muscle without movement. A plank is the perfect example of an isometric hold, all of your core is engaged stabilizing you, but you are not moving as you would in a sit up or crunch.

You can use isometric holds throughout your workout. For example, you can perform a bicep curl, curl up halfway (90 degrees) and hold for a 5-10 count (depending on your weight) and release slowly. After you have done 5-10 of those, then you can do the same amount using the full range of motion of that move.

A wall sit is a great move for the lower body and is easy on the joints. Slide down on a wall until you legs are at a 90 degree angle, press into your heels and hold for at least 30 seconds. I promise you will feel the burn without doing 20 squats.

What ever muscle group you are working, contract the muscle and hold — its that simple! Time under tension makes your muscle work harder and get stronger without having to lift extremely heavy.

So, the next time you do your workout, throw in some isometric holds and watch how fast you will gain strength.

Day Trippin' With Damon – Wolf Creek (Pine Run) Grist Mill, constructed in 1831, is now located in Mohican State Park adjacent to State Route 3. This grist mill originally stood north of Loudonville at Wolf Creek. Originally named Wolf's Mill, it was dismantled and moved at its present location next to Pine Run Steam in 1971. The reconstruction was completed in 1975, and the mill was opened to the public. The mill remained open until the mid-1980s and was later purchased by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. The grist mill features an overshot waterwheel that powers two millstones where pioneers ground grain into flour.

Major Marshall Park projects underway

By Traci Little

Ontario Marshall Park has always been a family-friendly community environment with locals taking advantage of its playgrounds, pavilions, picnic areas, sporting event opportunities and concerts. Visitors also enjoy a safe place to walk, taking their dogs to the dog park, and playing on the 18-hole disc golf course.

Players love the well maintained, technical and challenging course.

With the Ontario School system campus sitting alongside the park, it makes it a convenient center for recreational and extra-curricular activities.

There are a couple of really exciting new projects in the works at Ontario Marshall Park. Randy Hutchinson, the Mayor of Ontario, showed me around the park and informed me of what is on the horizon.

“By Memorial Day of this year, we should have four brand new turf baseball/softball fields up and running. These new fields will allow for tournaments to be held here, attracting travelers from all over the state of Ohio.

New features will include turf fields, updated lighting, and Wi-Fi accessibility,” he said. There are numerous benefits of turf fields including increased playing time, they aren’t limited to climate, and more efficient maintenance and set up time.

Hutchinson went on to say, “We also are putting in a brand-new inclusive spray park and playground area that are both accessible to wheelchairs.

These are expected to be completed close to Memorial Day, 2022 as well. Parents will love this new addition to the park! With a pavilion area in the middle, it should give parents a convenient view of their children safely going between the playground and water area.”

With this newly updated playground, the goal is to take away any social barriers to exclusion to help meet the needs of the community. It provides a sense of belonging and a place to find acceptance. Children from all different backgrounds should have a chance to play, interact, explore, and use their creativity and imagination together.

For these two upcoming million-dollar projects, a grant totaling $111,385 came from the Floyd Lutz Fund and The Gorman Fund of the Richland County Foundation.

Park improvements not only help our physical and mental health, but they also strengthen our communities, make our neighborhoods more attractive. Parks also attract tourists, filling hotel rooms. They are useful to hold musical festivals, concerts, and athletic events.

Young parents love the comfort of taking their children to play on a safe and clean playground. Walking paths promote a safe place to exercise and connect with others.

Other benefits of park improvements include the attraction of prospective homebuyers who prefer to be close to a park with lots of things to do. Parks enhance property value, increase municipal revenue, and also attract retirees.

Stay tuned for more updates as these projects progress. All of these improvement dates are tentative due to weather and other unforeseeable circumstances.

Local park improvements bring so many beneficial things to its community at all different levels: economically, physically, socially, and mentally. Help keep your local parks a clean and safe place by picking up your trash, volunteering, and showing kindness and compassion to your fellow neighbors.

This year’s Ontario Fourth of July Festival will be moved to the park. Previously held on the school grounds, the festival is scheduled for Saturday, July 2, from noon to 11 pm.

The event will conclude with a fireworks show.

The rain date is July 3.

St. Peter's School to perform School of Rock

St. Peter's School has announced its Department of Theater and Performing Arts will be returning to the stage with this year's production of School of Rock.

The musical is based on the film School of Rock with music by Sir Andrew Lloyd Weber. The show invites the audience members to take a journey through the heart and soul of rock n' roll. For the past several months, students, staff and members of the St. Peter's community have been preparing for this performance.

This is the school's first musical production since 2019. The 2020 production of Mary Poppins was in dress rehearsals when COVID-19 forced the cancellation of public gatherings.

When the curtain closes on opening night, it will be a huge relief for Jamie Stima, a 2012 graduate of St. Peter's School and now the performing arts program director. Mary Poppins was to be her first musical at the program's helm. Instead, it turned into a full year of hoping to find a way to make something work.

"We tried everything we could to produce some form of the musical," Stima said. She said it was tough to see the set still on the stage several months later. "We just never had an opportunity where we could make a production of that size work with all the restrictions still in place. We had a built a huge multi-level set, and never got to use it. We also could not recast key cast members who graduated."

"I'll be very excited and relieved when we finish our first performance... excited for our cast members, our volunteer leaders and the people who helped make this show a reality."

St. Peter's High School junior Adrian Allen is excited to play the role of Principal Rosalie Mullins.

"I like my character because she ends up letting her guard down and starts to have fun again," says Allen. "I hope people come out to see the show... see the hard work and determination we have put into this production."

Natalie Tanchevski, a senior in her final musical at St. Peter's, hopes for a good turnout.

"I encourage everyone to come and see the show because it ROCKS; our cast has put in a great amount of work."

Performances for the musical are Friday, April 1, at 7 pm; Saturday, April 2, at 7 pm; Sunday, April 3, at 2 pm; Friday, April 8, at 7 pm; and Saturday, April 9, at 2 pm and 7 pm.

This year's performance will also be the first major theatrical event in the renovated high school auditorium, which saw $350,000 in capital improvements in 2019, including new seats.

Tickets range from $12-15 per person. All seating is reserved and can be purchased through a link on St. Peter's webpage at mansfieldstpeters.org Tickets will also be available at the door.

ATTENDING THE GOLDEN POPPY RIBBON CUTTING were Mayor of Mansfield Tim Theaker, Richland County Commissioner Darrell Banks, Dillon Carr, Caitlin Carr, Andrea Murray, State Representative Marilyn John, Jada Wareham, Richland County Commissioners Cliff Mears and Tony Vero.

Golden Poppy reopening celebrated

Photos and Article
By Traci Little

Business owner Caitlin Carr was warmly welcomed back into the community as she celebrated the reopening of Golden Poppy, formerly known as Poppy Boutique.

A new website was also launched at www.goldenpoppyshop.com, where customers can conveniently place orders and have it shipped to home or available for local pickup. The store is located at 1084 Lexington Avenue in Mansfield. The store is open Tuesday–Friday, 11–5 and Saturday from 11–3.

Caitlin Carr was born and raised in Connecticut and Virginia. She moved to Mansfield after college and met her husband, Dillon, who grew up in the area. She's been in the boutique business for years, since 2006 to be exact. She's been working very hard to breathe life back into the business, re-branding it into Golden Poppy; warm, imaginative style for your everyday.

Ohio State Representative Marilyn John presented a certificate from the State of Ohio signed by the Speaker of the House and herself.

Richland County Commissioners, Darrell Banks, Tony Vero, and Cliff Mears also welcomed Golden Poppy to the area.

Cliff Mears said, "Thank you for your investment and it's a great neighborhood! My wife is here with me so I'm sure she's going to help "stimulate the economy" with her support."

Mayor of the City of Mansfield, Tim Theaker, said "This is a great neighborhood and community, and we welcome you and hope everything works out! You can call us anytime and we will try and help you with whatever we can."

Mansfield City Councilwoman Stephanie Zader also warmly welcomed Golden Poppy to the area. Team members introduced were Andrea Murray and Jada Wareham.

Caitlin Carr said, "I have been with this business, Poppy, for years. It is what brought me to Mansfield and how I met my husband Dillon because I worked with his sister. It has always felt like home and comfortable for us here. When this opportunity came up, we just knew we had to jump on it!"

"We have a lot of similar things previously here like footwear, clothing, jewelry, and accessories. I've recently added kids' items which is something that not everyone knows about. We now have a few items like home good items and candles as well. As far as the vision for the store, we wanted it to feel homely and comfortable."

"We want it to be a place that people are excited to come to and find things they love and enjoy. The word golden felt very warm inviting and a great way to transition from what was already great and make it our own."

Make sure to stop in and visit the shop when you're in Mansfield. With the amount of amazing items in this shop, I'm guessing it won't be your last visit either.

Volunteers needed to host high school exchange students

As international travel returns to normal, high school students from around the world eagerly await their opportunity to participate in an exchange program in the United States. International Student Exchange (ISE), a 501c3 nonprofit organization that facilitates exchange programs for students in the U.S. and abroad, is currently seeking volunteer families in the area to host these students while they attend local high schools.

This is an exciting opportunity for anyone interested in a unique experience in which they will create relationships that span the globe while making a positive impact locally and globally.

ISE host families come from all walks of life, and represent the diversity of America. The most crucial host family characteristic is that they are willing to treat the exchange student like a member of the family, not a guest. Beyond this, host families must be vetted by ISE, pass a background check, provide room and board, three meals a day, and exercise parental responsibility to ensure the student's well-being.

ISE exchange students are 15–18 year old high school students from over 40 countries around the world. They are accepted into the program based on their ability to speak English, demeanor, adaptability, and eagerness to learn about a new culture while sharing their own. They come with their own health insurance and spending money.

There are currently several students awaiting a volunteer host family in and around Richland County.

To learn more about this opportunity or submit a host family application, contact Craig McKenzie, at 419-934-5028, or visit rivervalley.iseusa.org

OSU-M Theatre performs Antigone as final play of season

In recognition of Women's History Month, the Theatre Program of The Ohio State University at Mansfield will perform Antigone as its final play of the 2021-'22 Theatre Season from March 31 to April 3.

Originally produced in 441 BCE, Antigone by Sophocles depicts one woman's courageous fight for justice. In an act of defiance to honor her dead brother, Antigone stands against the state. This play offers a timeless story about recognizing the dignity owed to every person - whether we agree with them or not.

This crisp abridgement and adaptation of the original Greek tragedy, based on a translation by R. C. Jebb, runs approximately 75 minutes without intermission. This production continues our theatre program's recent effort to make rights-free, accessible versions of classical texts available to students and teachers everywhere.

Performance times are: Thursday March 31 at 7:30 pm; Friday April 1 at 7:30 pm; Saturday April 2 at 7:30 pm; and Sunday April 3 at 2:30 pm.

Performances will take place in Founders Auditorium located in Ovalwood Hall. General admission is $8, $6 for students and seniors. Tickets are available at any time through ticketmaster.com and on-site in the 30 minutes before each show - more information can be found at mansfield.osu.edu/theatre or by calling 419-755-4045.
