THE ENTERTAINMENT EXAMINER

— By Ian Stumbo —

Godzilla x Kong: The New Empire is the latest installment in the Monster Verse which began in 2014 with Godzilla and has carried on re-introducing audiences to King Kong and Godzilla with four subsequent entries.

This latest release follows up 2020's Godzilla vs. Kong as the scientists studying both creatures have placed them on opposite sides of the world (including the underground world that Kong is in) so there is no conflict. However, Godzilla is awakened as he senses a new force is coming and Kong keeps going deeper into his environment.

Rebecca Hall, Brian Tyree Henry and Dan Stevens return for this movie and are fine in their roles though they have never been particularly engaging. Stevens is the most entertaining as he goes through the movie with a comical attitude.

The movie is actually pretty good for a while as Hall and her team go underground to find Kong as her adoptive daughter still has a connection to him.

Suspense builds and there are some good early action sequences. Of course, everyone is waiting for the end for the big battle though this is when the movie gets bogged down.

A new, evil ape is introduced challenging Kong and Mothra is also brought in as another foil. The evil ape is also riding another Titan, a bear looking creature that is from the ice age.

This was the most crowded showing I have personally been to in a while (the movie made a healthy $80 million in its opening weekend).

There is certainly a fan base for these movies which is nice to see. None of these movies though have particularly been truly great and it comes on the heels of probably the best Godzilla movie, Godzilla Minus One, which is not part of this universe though received huge acclaim and an Oscar for visual effects.

The battle scene at the end is well done though by this point the movie has too many ideas, too many creatures and characters. Paring down one of these adventures and given a more effective storyline would go a long way from taking this series to being average to being truly memorable.

Kingwood presents landscape inspirations symposium April 13

Kingwood Center Gardens will hold a half-day symposium on Saturday, April 1, 9 am to 12:30 pm in the Garden Gateway King Ballroom. Two other presentations will be given. Mark N. Gilles, Consultant and former Director of Historic Preservation at Stan Hywet Hall & Gardens in Akron, will discuss the Arts and Crafts style of nearby Stan Hywet Hall, and the restoration work of twelve major gardens on the estate.

Finally, former Kingwood Executive Director, Charles Gleaves, will give a presentation, connecting the history of the formal Gardens in Mr. King's time, how these gardens have evolved over the years, and Kingwood's plan to bring the gardens back to their more original forms. A tour of Mr. King's Formal Gardens will follow the presentations.

The symposium has been approved for the following continuing education units: 2.25 CEUs through the Association of Professional Landscape Designers; 2.5 OCNT CEUs through the Ohio Green Industry Association; 2.25 contact hours with a CEU Petition through National Recreation and Park Association; 2.25 CEUs through the National Association of Landscape Professionals. Clinic joins with food bank to provide free healthcare services Third Street Family Health Services now provides greater access to healthcare. Visitors to Grace Episcopal Church's food bank can now receive free screenings.

Third Street, a network of community health centers headquartered in Mansfield, will screen for HIV, hepatitis C, blood pressure, and substance use disorder. The rapid testing will be available every fourth Thursday of each month from 9-11 am.

These screenings can detect conditions that are commonly linked to chronic diseases, such as hypertension and liver disease. When these conditions are detected early, preventive measures and medical care can be initiated early to prevent disease complications.

Members of Third Street's healthcare team will be available to provide information and advise on follow-up care. Third Street's Five Points Primary Care campus is next door to the church. Same-day medical appointments will be available at the campus for screening participants. Insurance enrollment or sliding fees may be needed for further medical appointments.

The Third Street team will also assist with Medicaid enrollments. Eligible applicants may be provided with same-day coverage. Presumptive eligibility will be granted after completing full applications.

When people are experiencing difficulties or stress in their home life, they may forget to take care of themselves or may not have financial resources to devote to their health," said Dr. Chris Yohn, Third Street physician. "We are offering free screenings and education to support individuals in taking charge of their health and reducing the risk of chronic diseases.

Grace Episcopal has operated the food pantry since 2001 and regularly provides meals for an average of 500 families per week. The church is located at 41 Bowman St., Mansfield. The food pantry is on the church's first floor. The health testing will be confidential and held in a private room at the church's Third and Bowman Streets entrance. Red Cross offering incentives

This spring, the American Red Cross asks donors to help defend the blood supply by giving blood or platelets now to combat the fact that only three out of 100 people donate blood. When donors give March 25 to April 7, they'll get an exclusive Godzilla x Kong: The New Em pire and Red Cross t-shirt, while supplies last.

Blood and platelet donation appointments remain vital this month. People of all blood types - especially those with type O blood - are critical to ensuring hospital shelves can be replenished as soon as possible.

To book a time to give, visit RedCrossBlood.org, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, or call 1-800-RED CROSS. Additionally, all who come to give April 8–28 will get a $10 e-gift card to a merchant of choice, plus be automatically entered for a chance to win one of two $7,000 gift cards. Visit RedCross-Blood.org/Spring for details. The schedule includes:

Wednesday, April 3, 10 am to 4 pm, OSU Mansfield/NC State Eisenhower Center, 1760 University Dr., Mansfield; and noon to 6 pm, Richland Mall, Ontario

Friday, April 5, 11 am to 5 pm, Richland Mall, Ontario

Tuesday, April 9, noon to 6 pm, Saint Paul Lutheran Church, 48 Church St., Bellville

Ashland Lady Eagles recap with another amazing season

Bv Kris Leiter

Big shout out to Dusty Sloane, the director of communications, for making my media coverage at Ashland University very accommodating this year.

And a big hats off again to the head women's coach Kari Pickens, now in her sixth year manning the helm with the Ashland Women's' Basketball program, along with her amazing coaching staff of Jenna Kotas and Karlee Denbow.

Why such a big feather in the cap? In case you haven't had the chance to follow the program in past years, Pickens has compiled a number one ranking, again this year in the Division II!

To add to her amazing résumé under Pickens leadership, she has

Carnegie Hall program provides free Mansfield Symphony performances for area schools

In collaboration with Carnegie Hall, the Mansfield Symphony Orchestra (MSO) and Renaissance Performing Arts Association are proud participants in Carnegie Hall's Weill Music Institute's Link Up program for the 2023-2024 season. The Link Up concert, titled "The Orchestra Sings," is scheduled for Thursday, May 2, 2024, at the Renaissance Theatre where area schools are invited to attend free of charge.

The Link Up program, aimed at students in grades 3–5, offers an engaging music curriculum where, if teachers desire, students may learn to sing and play an instrument before performing with the professional orchestra from their seats. This interactive experience, often students' first concert, allows them to apply musical concepts they have studied.

The Link Up Program partnership with Carnegie Hall has come as a natural evolution from the Operation Bridge Building (OBB) Education Concerts offered at the Renaissance for the past 14 years.

In the Link Up Program, the orchestra will present its annual free education concerts on May 2, 2024 and is designed to enhance elementary-level classroom courses and support music education in schools, integrating arts with academics.

The Renaissance, in collaboration with the MSO, has been accepted as a Carnegie Hall Partner Organization, joining over 100 organizations across the US and internationally. This partnership provides access to Link Up resources, including teacher and student materials.

Link Up has a rich history of pairing orchestras with students to explore orchestral repertoire and fundamental musical skills. Since 2003, Carnegie Hall has partnered with organizations globally, serving over 300,000 students and teachers in the 2023–'24 season.

Two presentations will be offered on May 2 at 9:45 am and 11:45 am. Maestro Octavio Más-Arocas, Music Director of the MSO, will lead the concerts, featuring dynamic narration by Renaissance Education Manager and Teaching Artist Dauphne Maloney.

School groups can reserve concert seats by contacting the Renaissance Education Department at 419-522-2726, ext. 212, or via email at dauphne@mansfieldtickets.com.

The Mansfield Symphony Education programs are made possible through the generosity of donors, including Richland County Foundation, the Gimbel Foundation, Ohio Arts Council, Mechanics Bank, and OhioHealth.

Carnegie Hall's Weill Music Institute produces music education and social impact programs globally, reaching over 800,000 people during the 2023-2024 season.

tallied an amazing record of 170–16 in those six years, with 2019–'20 and 2022–'23 with undefeated records of 31–0 and 37–0 respectively.

She also led the Lady Eagles in 2022–'23 to another number one ranking, as well as a Midwest Regional, Great Midwest Athletic Conference Tournament and a Great Midwest regular season championship.

In this 2023–'24 campaign alone, the team has notched a daunting record of 31–2, with having an unblemished road record of 14–0!

They came out as victors on March 8, capturing the GMAC Semi-finals by defeating Thomas More handedly 67–56 on Friday, March 8. They then captured the Conference title the next evening by easily defeating Trevecca 99–58!

Ashland was able to flip the script on Thomas More that night, as Thomas More was just coming off three-game winning streak.

A big shout out to the leading scorers as two players would score in double digits.

Savay Brockington would lead the Lady Eagles with 18 points, as well as shooting an amazing 50 percent from beyond the three-point arc for nine points of her 18 tallies. She was also 7–10 from the charity stripe.

Her teammate, Erin Daniels would notch the scoring column in double figures as well with 14 points. Daniels would hit a breathtaking 12 points alone from three-point land, ringing in at 80% on the evening from beyond the arc!

Daniels would also capture the tournament MVP she rang up 17 points in the Championship game against Trevecca.

Let's not forget about the defense kudos as Annie Roshak, who cleaned the glass in the rebound column with nine rebounds!

Great job ladies and Coach Pickens for another incredible season!

Lexington's $3 Million Tornado

April 5, 1985 — These photos tell part of the story of what happended to Lexington residents as the reult of a tornado that hopscotched through the village at 11:15 pm last Thursday.

The few seconds that it took for Mother Nature to unleash the fury on the unsuspecting community resulted in damage to more than 30 structures. It uprooted trees, destroyed power lines, damaged motor vehicles and ripped signs apart.

Fortunately, there was only one reported injury, Jamie Heston of Tamarac Dr., who was treated for injuries, according to Red Cross reports.

The sounds of chainsaws couple be clearly heard throughout the community early Friday morning as residents launched an immediate clean-up campaign along the 75-yard swath of the tornado.

Neighbors pitched in to help those who suffered property damage. It was a time for a grass roots effort to bring conditions back to normal in the quiet community and people made the difference.

Of the local schools, Eastern Elementary sustained an estimated damage of $40,000 as part of the roof was ripped off by the fury of the tornado.

There was extensive damage within the school and to a maintenance building at the rear, where the high winds drove a tree thru the building. The tornado struck following an evening of high winds and driving rain. Television radar weather reports tracked the tornado from northwest Ohio.

For a time, it appeared that the tornado warnings would be held to surrounding counties. Within seconds, its route zigzagged into our area.

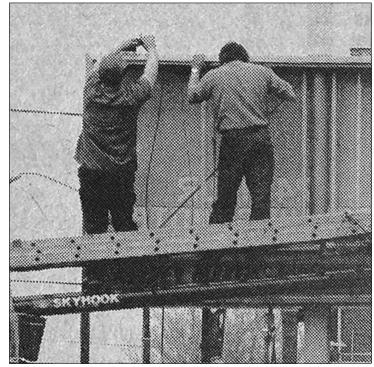

BRUCE ARMSTRONG SITS ON THE STUMP of a tree while surveying the damage done to his home on Tamiami Trail. The tree, as well as the roof on his home, were uprooted and displaced by the force of last Thursday's tornado. Neighbors were waiting to help Armstrong with clean-up operations.
